

Kennedy Asks Creation of 59 Judgeships

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy today asked Congress to create 59 new federal judgeships.

An administration bill sent to the House and Senate would provide nine new judges for the U.S. courts of appeals and 50 new U.S. District Court judgeships.

In identical letters to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., Kennedy said there has been no increase in the federal judiciary since 1954.

"Since 1954 there has been a decrease in the total number of judicial positions resulting from the expiration of three judgeships created on a temporary basis," Kennedy asserted.

"In the meantime, the increase in litigation in the federal courts has created serious problems of court congestion with consequent delay in disposition of the cases."

The bill would increase the number of Circuit Court judges in the 2nd Circuit (New York, Connecticut, Vermont) from six to nine; the 4th Circuit (Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia) from three to five; the 5th Circuit (Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Canal Zone) from seven to nine; the 7th Circuit (Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin) from six to seven; and the 10th Circuit (Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Utah, Wyoming) from five to six.

New district judgeships would be in the following areas:

Alabama, Northern District (1); Alaska (1); Arizona (1); California, Northern District (1); Colorado (1); Connecticut (2); Florida, Southern District (2); Georgia, Northern District (1); Illinois, Northern District (2); Iowa (1) to serve in both Northern and Southern districts; Kansas (1); Louisiana, Eastern District (2); Maryland (2); Massachusetts (1); Michigan, Eastern District (2); Mississippi, Southern District (1); Nevada (1); New Jersey (1); New York, Southern District (6); Eastern District (2); North Carolina (1) to serve in Eastern, Western and Middle districts; Ohio, Northern District (2); Pennsylvania, Eastern District (3); Western District (2); Middle District (1); Puerto Rico (1); South Carolina, Eastern District (1); Tennessee, Eastern District (1); Middle District (1); Western District (1); Texas, Northern District (1); Southern District (1); Western District (1); One district judgeship in the Eastern District of Michigan, one in the District of Nevada, two in the Eastern District of New York, one in the Southern District of Ohio, and one in the Middle District of Pennsylvania would be temporary. The first vacancies occurring in those districts would not be filled.

The bill provides that in Washington State a judge now serving in both the Eastern and Western districts be assigned for the Western District only.

The bill also provides that judgeships previously created on a temporary basis in the Middle District of Georgia, District of New Mexico and the Western District of Pennsylvania, be made permanent.

Kennedy said his bill is in line with recommendations of the Judicial Conference of the United States. That body, headed by the chief justice, includes the chief judges of the Courts of Appeals, the chief judge of the Court of Claims and one district judge from each of the geographical areas over which the 11 appeals courts have jurisdiction.

Brooks Hays May Get a Top Post

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Herald Tribune says former Rep. Brooks Hays of Arkansas is expected to be appointed today as Assistant Secretary of State for Congressional Affairs.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper reporting the selection noted that it is a "sensitive job."

The story also said in part: An announcement by the White House has been held up for several weeks since President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk decided that Hays was "their man."

Political opposition to the Arkansas Democrat had developed in the House of Representatives, but it is understood now that the 62-year-old Baptist lay leader from Little Rock will take over his new assignment with the full support of Congress.

Hays will succeed William Butts Macomber, onetime special assistant to the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Macomber will stay in the Kennedy administration as an ambassador.

Turnback Bill Approved in the Senate

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate today passed 27-7 and sent to Gov. Orval E. Faubus a bill to increase turnback to counties by $530,000 annually and give smaller counties a bigger share of the money.

The bill would change the formula for dividing turnback to eliminate county area as a factor and to make relative size or population less important.

No county would receive less money than it now does under an amendment attached to the original bill in the House before it was sent to the Senate.

Until this provision was incorporated five counties — Arkansas, Jefferson, Mississippi, Union and White — stood to have their share reduced.

The bill sponsored by the Arkansas County Judges Association, was brought to a Senate vote by Sen. Robert Hays Williams of Russellville.

Sen. J. Lee Bearden of Leachville, speaking against the measure, said the proposed increase would come from money which otherwise would go to the schools, colleges, welfare and other agencies.

He said that since Faubus has been governor, aid to counties had increased more than $1 million a year.

Williams said that very little welfare money comes from the general fund and that most of it is derived from federal sources.

He declared the counties needed more money because of added costs, notably by inclusion of county employees in a statewide employees retirement system.

House Fails to Vote on Highway Fund

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House adjourned today rather than vote on a bill which would give counties an additional $1.5 million a year from the state Highway Fund.

Disorder broke out in the House when Little River County Rep. Marion Crank, who is handling the measure for its Senate authors, called it up for a vote.

The House defeated attempts to limit debate on the measure and then voted 49-47 to adjourn until 2 p.m. Monday when the bill will come up again.

The measure passed the Senate by a 25-6 vote Wednesday. It would give each of the state's 75 counties $20,000 a year to use matching federal funds for improving county secondary road systems.

Crank said the adjournment move was inspired by opponents to the measure, who want additional time to work against it.

"We had enough votes to pass the bill today and they knew it," Crank said. "This gives the Highway Department more time to try to kill it."

"It looks like this bill is in trouble now," said Conway County Rep. Clay Brazil, a supporter of the measure. Brazil sponsored a House bill which would give the counties an additional $530,000 from general revenues. This bill passed the House easily.

The Highway Commission took a stand Thursday against the bill which came up in the House today. Director F. R. Oliver issued a statement saying the department probably would have to suspend much of its 3-year improvement program for secondary roads if the bill becomes law. Oliver said that $1 million worth of projects in each of the state's 10 highway districts probably would be postponed indefinitely.

Pike County Rep. Alvin Stokes charged earlier today that the Highway Department was bringing pressure on legislators to defeat the bill. Stokes said that a Highway Department official had contacted a businessman in his area and told him that unless he could convince Stokes to vote against the bill, the businessman might lose a road in which he has an interest.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus also attacked the bill Thursday, saying it actually would cost the Highway Department $3 million a year. He said this was because the department also would lose the federal matching money.

He said that since Faubus has been governor, aid to counties had increased more than $1 million a year.

Williams said that very little welfare money comes from the general fund and that most of it is derived from federal sources.

He declared the counties needed more money because of added costs, notably by inclusion of county employees in a statewide employees retirement system.

Under the present law the counties are allotted $2,670,000 annually. Sixty per cent of this appropriation on an area basis and 40 per cent on the basis of population.

Under the new measure 75 per cent of $3,200,000 would be divided equally among the counties and 25 per cent would be apportioned on the basis of population.

Faubus Uses Threat in Telling of Building Bill, "Tired of Bearing Burden for Others"

Showdown on Retirement Fund Wed.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A showdown on a plan to combine the state Teacher Retirement system with federal Social Security will come in the Senate Wednesday.

Sen. Clarence Bell, Parkin school superintendent, today got a bill embodying the backed by the Arkansas Education Association made a special order of business for Wednesday morning.

The bill, identical to one introduced in the House, calls for state participation of 9.72 per cent. Gov. Orval E. Faubus and some legislators say this is too high and want state participation limited to five per cent.

No bill calling for the 5 per cent figure has been introduced. This plan also would call for combining the retirement program with Social Security. The only controversy is over how much the state should contribute.

Hayte Pyle, director of the retirement system, said Thursday that the governor's plan would be mathematically impossible.

That would call for a total contribution of 10 per cent of the teacher's salaries — 5 per cent from the state and 5 per cent from the teachers. This, Pyle said, would provide $5.8 million.

Pyle said, however, that teachers' contributions can't be used for operating purposes until they retire. And he said that the 1955, 1957 and 1959 legislatures had raised minimum retirement benefits to the point that it now takes $3.3 million a year to pay them.

Of the $5.8 million which would be contributed annually under Faubus' proposal only half—$2.9 million — could be used to meet retirement payments, Pyle said. This is because the teachers' contributions can't be touched until they retire.

The AEA contends it would take a 9.72 per cent state contribution to meet payments and maintain a $40 million reserve fund. Under Faubus' proposal, the AEA says, the reserve fund would be drained off in 10 years because it would have to be used to help pay retirement benefits.

The AEA contends it would take a 9.72 per cent state contribution to meet payments and maintain a $40 million reserve fund. Under Faubus' proposal, the AEA says, the reserve fund would be drained off in 10 years because it would have to be used to help pay retirement benefits.

Arkansas Firm Named in Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Arkansas company, Osceola Tile and Culvert Co., is one of 49 corporations named in a large antitrust case by the Federal Trade Commission.

The commission charged American-Marietta Co., Chicago, of violating the antitrust laws by acquiring 49 corporations from coast to coast.

The FTC charges that the acquisitions violate the antitrust law because they may tend to lessen competition or create a monopoly in the production and sale of concrete pipe, cement, sand, gravel, lime and crushed stone.

The Osceola company is a subsidiary of Mid-South Concrete Pipe Co., a Tennessee corporation, which also was named.

Two Funerals for Famous Jazz Player

By DAVID ZINMAN

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — There were two funerals when they buried famed Negro jazz clarinetist, Alphonse Pichou.

They buried the 42-year-old musician Thursday. And they all but buried the music played at his funeral — old-time New Orleans jazz — the music he helped create.

When a Negro jazzman or lodge member dies in New Orleans, a marching band is hired to play dirges and hymns to the graveyard. Going home, following the great tradition, the band ends with ragtime. People dance in the streets.

It's an unforgettable sound. The music is the closest you'll come today to the pure, original jazz that began here a half century ago.

But it's dying. It has given way to swing, modern jazz, and rock 'n' roll.

Pichou, credited with composing the classic "Muskrat Ramble," helped develop the distinctive New Orleans jazz style of clarinet playing.

After Pichou's funeral, the 10-piece band struck up bouncing tunes going back to the funeral home. The gay music drew people from nearby houses, stores, street corners. A piper army of old and young, white and Negro, danced along.

The band cut loose with "Panama Rag," "Joe's Boogie," "Didn't He Rumble. School children peeked from classroom windows. Customers in a beauty parlor ran out with pincurlers.

At Pichou's funeral, as in the old days, a grand marshal set the pace for the Eureka band—one of two bands that played—to the graveyard.

The band played such hymns as "Nearer My God to Thee" and "What A Friend We Have in Jesus." But it was not church music. It was as if the blues had entered the music and taken over.

French Admit Plane Fired on Soviet Craft

By JEAN PAILLARDIN

ALGIERS (AP) — The French blamed the Soviets today for Thursday's explosive incident off Algiers, when French jet fighters fired warning shots at a plane carrying Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev.

The French said the big Ilyushin 18 plane was intercepted by three jets south of its announced course. Furthermore, a communique said, the Soviets violated custom by failing to notify the French that Brezhnev was aboard.

Warning bursts were fired only because the Soviets violated regulations by refusing to make radio contact with the intercepting fighters, the communique said.

A Soviet communique issued in Rabat, Morocco, where Brezhnev stopped on the way to an official visit to Guinea, said the four-engine turboprop plane messaged Algiers when the first French Vulture fighter jet appeared.

The message asked Algiers to reveal its plane, the message was acknowledged, and the shooting was broken off, the communique said.

The two communique disagreed about the flight plan submitted in advance.

The French said the announced itinerary was along the 38th Parallel, "that is, 140 kilometers (87 miles) north of Algeria" and "respected scrupulously the rules of air flight instituted by the French government in its zone of responsibility."

"But for reasons unknown," the communique added, "the plane followed a route far to the south and found itself by this fact in a dangerous zone from which it was necessary to make it leave."

Had the Soviets made radio contact, they would have been given instructions on a route to follow, the French communique added.

The Soviet communique quoted the Soviet pilot as saying he was following a route previously communicated to the French 150 kilometers (90 miles) north of Algiers when the incident took place.

"It is necessary to specify that radio contacts with the Algerian radio station directed by the air services had been established before the appearance of the French fighter and before it had buzzed the Ilyushin 18," the communique added.

The 80-mile zone off Algeria is covered by French air and sea forces to head off arms shipments to the Algerian nationalist rebels.

Thursday's incident puts a new strain on Soviet-French relations, already tense because of Moscow's support of the Algerian rebels.

The French communique bore out the original protest by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko is Moscow that the plane's flight plan had been sent beforehand to the French government.

Coup de Prejean, director of information in Algeria, had said the plane did not possess any international flight plan.

U. S. to Seek Damage From Electric Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has made it official—the government will seek millions of dollars in damages from electrical equipment firms that pleaded guilty to rigging bids on government contracts.

Kennedy said Thursday the first complaint will be filed within two months.

He noted that at least 20 federal agencies bought electrical equipment from the defendants during the period covered by the charge. Among the firms are General Electric and Westinghouse.

The companies face an avalanche of other damage suits. At least 171 cities are considering a mammoth joint suit asking triple damages from the firms. The federal government is limited to recovering actual damages.

And in Peoria, Ill., two attorneys filed suit Thursday for $750 million in damages from General Electric, saying they were acting on behalf of individual buyers of GE products.

In New York, GE said it is voluntarily reviewing transactions with many customers, including the federal government to determine "whether they have received fair value."

In Philadelphia, where the huge antitrust case originated, two companies and three executives Thursday paid fines levied against them.

H. K. Porter, Inc., of Pittsburgh and Ingersoll-Rand Co. of New York sent checks totaling $70,000 to the U. S. District Court. They were the first of the 29 companies to pay their fines. Porter paid $50,000 and Ingersoll-Rand $20,000.

Some high executives of the companies involved were given jail terms.

Bill Corrects Town Charter

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A bill to correct the corporate charter of Humphrey, a town on the Jefferson-Arkansas County line, was introduced in the Arkansas House Wednesday by Arkansas County Rep. Grover Carnes.

Carnes said potential buyers of municipal bonds issued by the town had questioned its charter. "The bill will make certain that the charter is legal," Carnes said. Carnes said Humphrey first was incorporated under a special act of the General Assembly.

By JEAN PAILLARDIN ALGERS (AP)—France's admission that her jet fighters fired warning shots at a Soviet plane flying Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev to Africa put a new strain today on Paris-Moscow relations, already tense because of Soviet support of the Algerian rebels.

The Soviet government charged the Soviet civilian airliner was attacked over the Mediterranean 80 miles north of Algiers Thursday afternoon. The Soviet protest called it "an act of international banditry carried out by the

The plane apparently was not hit. The French said the big four-engine, turboprop Ilyushin failed to respond to radio challenges and that three French Vautour fighters intercepted it in the "zone of French responsibility." The French spokesman did not pinpoint the location.

Brezhnev, 54, who is making a goodwill visit to West Africa, arrived on schedule at his first stop in Rabat, Morocco, and appeared untroubled by the shooting incident.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said in Moscow the plane was "following the course" communicated beforehand to the French government.

Coup De Frejae, director of information in Algeria, however, said the French picked up the Ilyushin-18 on a radar screen and declared: "This plane did not possess any international flight plan. It was coming from the east and seemed to be heading toward Morocco (which borders Algeria)."

Bachir Bel Abbes, the Moroccan ambassador to Moscow, who was traveling with Brezhnev, said he could see the Algerian coast off to one side when a twin-engine French jet appeared out of a clear sky.

Forestry Program Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., urged support Thursday of a proposed $8 million forestry program which would include research, road construction and recreation facilities.

Former President Eisenhower proposed only $1.5 million in the budget he submitted prior to leaving office.

Fulbright said the country's forests are a great reservoir of wealth. He pointed out that last year $148 million was returned to the Treasury Department from timber sales and other activities.

"I might mention that 25 Arkansas counties received a total of nearly one million dollars as their share of the receipts from two national forests within the state," he said.

Fulbright noted there are 4,033 miles of developed forest roads in Arkansas but said the Forest Service estimates an additional an income tax lien for $22,820 against the estate of the tenor Mario Lanza and his wife Betty.

Tax agents said this amount was due for back income levies for 1955-56-57.

The singer died Oct. 7, 1959, and his wife died five months later.

DOROTHY DIX Hen-Pecked Husband Asserts Independence

Dear Helen:

My husband is afraid the men where he works will call him hen-pecked if he doesn't stop three or four times a week for a beer with the boys, then come home at all hours.

Except for this weakness he is a good husband and father. We've been married for 12 years — happy years till this fear of being hen-pecked started him asserting his masculine superiority by defying me and our minister.

Can't he see he's wrecking our marriage by being so weak? — D. K.

Dear D. K.: Opposition will only make your husband more defiant. Prove he isn't hen-pecked. Let him have a night out at home. Turn the living room over to him and the boys for a game of cards and crackers and cheese washed down by a beer or two.

There would be fewer bar flies if there were cozier homes.

Dear Helen:

Dad had a beautiful rumpus room built at the back of our house three years ago. We love it and live in it.

I plan to give a party in this room. Everything is perfect, except for one thing. Dad has hung a calendar on the wall with a picture of a fat, cute girl in a slipping bikini on it. I'm no gaudy-goody but I don't want this calendar up when my friends come. My mom says it's okay. I don't. What do you say? There are probably other kids in the same bucket. Maybe it's not a calendar but some figure that's just plain vulgar, instead of beautiful. Should the kids suffer for their parents' lack of taste? —D.

Dear D.: The rumpus room is as much your father's, as it is yours. If he likes the bikini girl calendar let it stay, especially when your mother finds no harm in it.

Tell your friends the truth — that you didn't see eye to eye with your parents on this matter, then have a good laugh with them over the chrono. They will like you all the better for your 10,875.

He suggested an additional $40-50 million to expand the road system in the next two years. More miles are needed.

Seeking additional research, Fulbright said that in the Arkansas Ozark Mountains there are opportunities to increase the productivity of vast areas of forest lands.

Muskegon Is a City of Depression

Editor's Note—Muskegon, Mich. is a typical American small town, neat and tidy. But there is fear beneath the attractive exterior. It is a "depressed" area. Joblessness has been high, due to hard times in the automobile industry and a new blow was struck when a key industry decided to leave taking 1,800 jobs. Nate Polowetzky, assistant general business editor of The Associated Press, who is touring the depressed labor areas, tells of Muskegon's trials and tribulation in the following article, last of a series of two.

By NATE POLOWETZKY

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—In a motel just near the heart of the city, a waitress stopped long enough to tell this story:

"My brother-in-law used to work for Continental Motors here — they make engines and things like that. He has been laid off since last July and he drew his last unemployment benefit check last week.

"His wife, my sister, was married before but her husband died. She gets his Social Security checks now. That's the only thing she and her husband and family are living on. And there are six kids to support, besides bills and payments on their home."

Muskegon is a tidy community of neat one family houses, with a fine library and art gallery, magnificent beaches on Lakes Muskegon and Michigan.

It has a healthy, American small town look about it, with churches and synagogues side by side and a big park in the middle.

But beneath its lovely exterior is heartbreak and despair resulting from long, heavy unemployment and the prospect of even more to come. Muskegon and its sister communities combine in a "depressed" area.

The area is almost a classic example of a community's ill-fortunes resulting from dependence on a single industry—or two—for its economic well being.

In Muskegon's case, for many years, its men and women were dependent, generally speaking, on factories tightly connected with the automotive industry — foundries, piston firms, etc. In addition, the Norge Division of Borg-Warner Corp., manufacturers of refrigerators and freezers, was a heavy employer.

Up through the war years and after, Muskegon boomed. Then the decline set in as the sales of durable goods suffered and the car industry, now dispersed and automated and making its own

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

By Henry Farrell
Copyright © 1960 by Henry Farrell Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: Edna Stitt, the cleaning woman who visits the home of Blanche and Jane Hudson, senses that something is wrong between the two sisters. Jane, the former child star, hates Blanche, who is crippled as a result of a car accident which "talk" says was engineered by Jane.

Chapter XVII

With a certain wariness, Mrs. Stitt turned from closing the gate and started up the walk toward the service porch. As she entered the yard, she caught a glimpse of the dim, bunched figure lurking in the open doorway of the kitchen and guessed that Jane Hudson was waiting in there for her.

"Well," she said with guarded joviality, "all set to go out, eh, bright and early?"

For an answer Jane's hand shot forward, holding the apron out to her. "Here." Her voice was small with strain but determined. "You don't have to stay. We don't need you here any more."

Mrs. Stitt was too stunned for a moment even to speak. "I would have called you, but I didn't have your number."

"Now, wait just a minute, Miss Hudson—"

"You'll be paid for today, don't worry. We'll send you a check. Here—take your apron. And you better give me your key to the house."

Mrs. Stitt took the apron and thrust it composedly under her arm. "I don't have the key," she said blandly. "I just realized as I was coming up the hill just now—I left it behind today."

Jane regarded her uncertainly, blinking. "All right, then," she said finally, "you can put it in the mail when you get home."

Stubbornly she stood her ground, waiting for Mrs. Stitt to turn away.

Mrs. Stitt, however, was not yet satisfied. "As long as I came all this way," she said, making her gaze level and hard, "I'd better see Miss Blanche before I go. If I'm fired, I'd like to have it straight from her. She's the one who hired me."

Jane's mouth drew down into a straight hard line. "She's — she's still asleep."

"Then, I'll wait. I don't mind a bit."

"But I'm just leaving. I have to be down at the bank when it opens."

"You don't have to worry," Mrs. Stitt said thinly. "You can trust me here alone. I won't run off with anything."

Jane stepped back quickly into the porch, slammed the screen door and latched it. "You're fired. So you can go on away!"

Mrs. Stitt, for all of her righteous indignation, knew when she was defeated. With a broad shrug she turned and started back down the walk.

She had just managed to get herself settled on the bench at the curb when she saw the gray coupe pull up at the corner. She looked just long enough to see that Jane was alone in the car.

Catching sight of the bus approaching from up the street she got to her feet and straightened her coat. Forget it, she told herself, just forget it; nothing can be done.

Opening her bag to take out her fare, her eyes fell on the disputed key to the Hudson house. There it lay, just beside her note book, its identification disc attacked with a loop of bright red string. In the street, the bus eased in to the curb and snorted its doors open to let her inside.

Inside the bus the driver leaned forward to peer out at her. "You getting on, lady?"

Mrs. Stitt glanced up and then after another moment's hesitation shook her head. "I'm sorry," she said. "The door snorted shut again and the bus roared off, bullying its way back into traffic. In pensive mood now, Mrs. Stitt turned and started back up the hill.

First she tidied up the kitchen taking great pleasure in pouring out the last of the whisky and disposing of the bottle in the trash. By the time she had finished this and had Miss Blanche's breakfast tray made up it was nearly a quarter past 10.

At Miss Blanche's door she paused to listen, hopeful of hearing some sound from inside to indicate that Miss Blanche was already awake. Hearing nothing she frowned. It was getting on now, and it wasn't at all like Miss Blanche to sleep so late. Bracing the tray against the wall Stitt reached out and gently knocked.

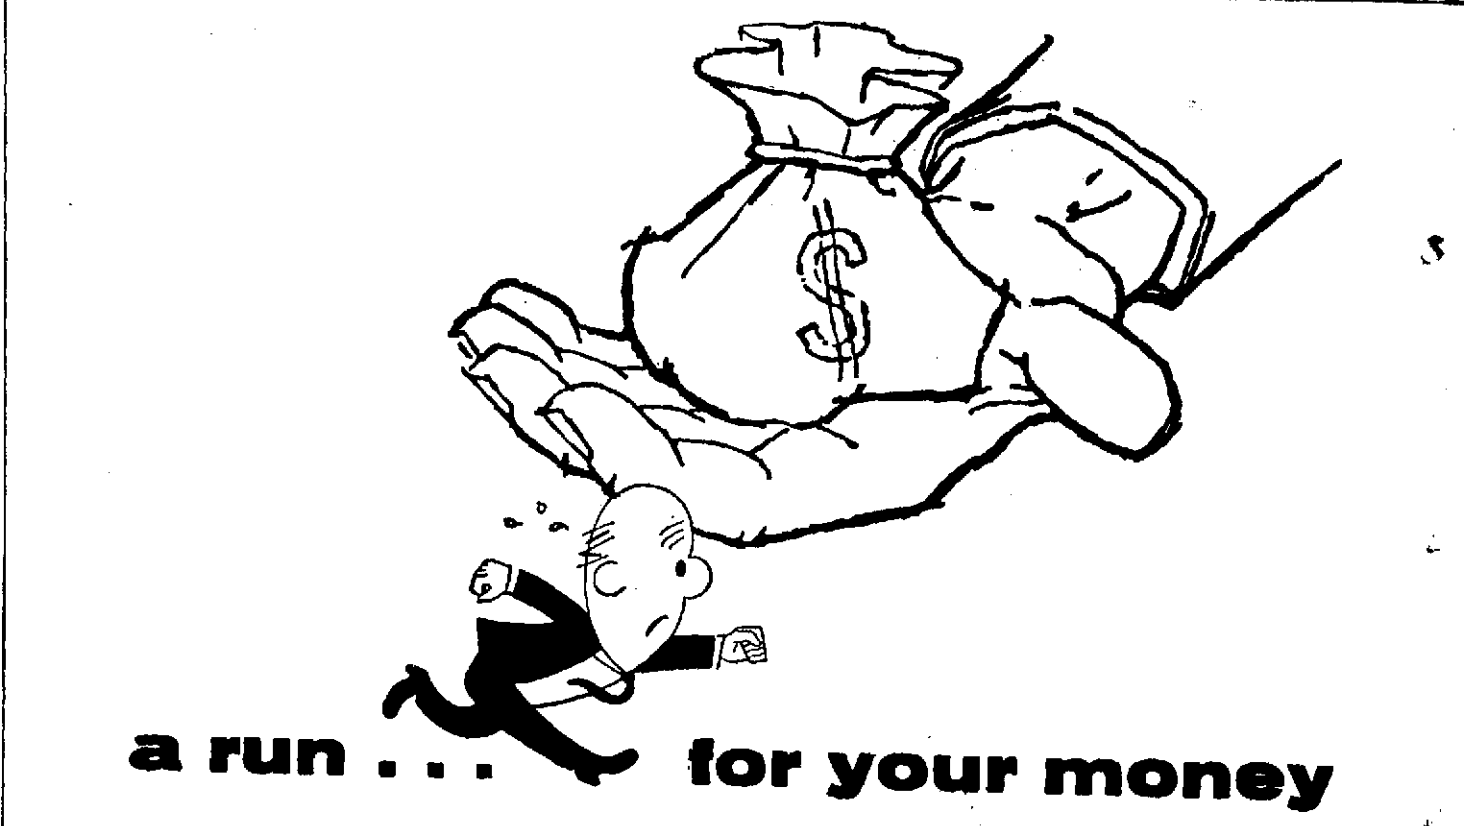

"Miss Blanche?" she called. "It's me, Miss Blanche, it's Edna. You awake yet?"

She waited but there was no answer.

A faint feeling of chill touched the back of Mrs. Stitt's neck there was something wrong here something quite definitely not a it should be. No longer hesitant she reached out to the doorknob and shoved. The dishes and silver on the tray clattered as her forward movement was abruptly checked by the unyielding panel. The door was locked.

Bearcats Are Pointed to NCAA Play

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's bustling Bearcats are pointed toward their fourth straight chance at the NCAA basketball championship today.

The fifth-ranked Bearcats shook off St. Louis 61-52 Thursday night for their 12th straight victory, 17th in 20 games this season, and a 7-2 Missouri Valley Conference record that is good for a one-game lead over runnerup Bradley (5-2).

Duke, bouncing back from its upset by North Carolina State, regained first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference Thursday night and dumped Wake Forest down to second, 100-90. West Virginia, fighting off a jittery start, smoothed New York University with a second half zone defense for a 75-60 decision in the window of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden. Dayton (13-6), virtually wrapping up a bid to the NIT had opened the Garden doubleheader by setting a school single game record in a 112-77 rout of Seton Hall.

Tough Duke (14-5) smashed Tampa 111-73. Virginia Tech took second place in the Southern Conference (behind West Virginia), 99-77 over George Washington, and NCAA-bound Houston (14-6) walloped North Texas 86-57 in other games.

Bob Wiesenhan had 19 points and sophomore Tom Thacker 15 for Cincinnati, which broke a 41-all tie and raced away from St. Louis in the last 8½ minutes. Tom Kieffer had 14 points and

The Greeks didn't "fake" when they wrestled. In the type of wrestling called "pancratium" few holds were barred. Wrestlers could hit, kick, twist limbs, struggle on the ground, and even strangle. Just two things were forbidden: biting and gouging.

Paragould May Join Lawsuit

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—Paragould is one of 180 cities which may join in a consolidated damage suit against major electrical equipment manufacturers.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, composed of city attorneys, is reported preparing the action for the cities which claim to have lost money as a result of the manufacturers' rigging bids on supplies.

J. C. Holland, city superintendent of the Power and Light Co., said the city had bought electrical equipment, valued at about $25,000 the past three years. He said about half the business was the General Electric Co. and the Westinghouse Corp., which were among those pleading guilty or no contest this week to price fixing charges.

Bobcats Must Win Against Bucks Tonight

By Vince Foster
Hope Star Sportswriter

The Hope Bobcats take on the Smackover Bucks here tonight in the most important district game this week. The winner of this game will move into first place position of district 4AA, since Smackover leads the conference with a 6-2 record, and Hope is one game out in second place with a 4-2 record. The Kittens play at 7:30, with the senior game at 8:30.

Then Saturday night the Cats and Kittens travel to Camden for another important district game.

Smackover, district defenders, have three boys on the top eight scorers of the conference. They are Burnett with 133 points, Burson with 100 and Agee with 89. Hope's high man in the district is Calhoun with 84 points.

Coach Billy Mitchell had this comment on the two games this weekend: "These are surely our two most crucial games of the year. If we beat Smackover and move into first place, we still have a very tough one with Camden. The boys don't seem to realize the game with the Panthers will be a hard one, since we beat them 21 points on our home court. Camden has really improved since then, as Smackover only beat them 52-50 in a double overtime last week. We need all the local support possible on both games this weekend."

At the end of the season there will be a district playoff of the top four teams to determine the three 4AA teams which go to the state tournament.

The junior district season has been cut short because of the state tournament soon, and this is the final week. If the Kittens win both games this weekend, the district tournament will be held here sometime next week. To date Dan Jones is tied for second in district scoring with 78 points, although the Kittens have played two games less than the other district teams. Jerry Burnett is 7th with 60 points.

Support of the Hope teams has been a little scarce this season, although the Kittens are in first place and the Cats are in second. If they ever needed support, they need it now. Come on out to Jones Field House tonight and follow them to Camden tomorrow night.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A trio of young sharpshooters held a skimpy one-stroke lead as a whole army of par wreckers headed into today's second round of the $38,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

Out front with four-under-par 66s in the opening session were Bill Collins, Dave Marr and Mason Rudolph, but 44 others who bettered or equaled par Thursday were within striking distance.

Among those only a single stroke back was Buddy Sullivan of Yuba City, Calif., whose only big golf payoff came when Joe Campbell sank a $50,000 hole in one in the 1960 Palm Springs tournament. Sullivan and Campbell had agreed in advance to divide the money if either shot an ace.

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (AP) — Three Suffolk County policemen have been convicted of stealing $600 worth of electrical appliances from a Long Island warehouse when they went there to investigate a reported burglary last July 3.

Duck Hunters Get Bad News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Duck hunters were given the bad news Thursday by the Department of Interior: If present dry conditions continue, the 1961 Duck season will be the poorest in the past three decades.

Officials said extremely heavy snowfalls are needed in the next two months in the prairie regions of the northern United States and southern Canada to be in time for the 1961 nesting season.

The Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife said up to 55 per cent of the game birds come from the affected regions which include the Canadian provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast only dryness for the areas through mid-February.

Syracuse Is Coming Along in Pro Play

By GEORGE ESPER
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Suddenly the Syracuse Nats are riding a three-game winning streak in the National Basketball Association and the Philadelphia Warriors are down three in a row.

Coach Alex Hannum, whose Nats' latest victory was a 136-126 triumph over the Warriors Thursday night, attributes a great deal of the success to the full-time availability of guard Larry Costello.

Costello, who had been sidelined from time to time over the past month with a series of injuries, led Syracuse with 24 points but scoring honors went to Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain who collected 46.

Coach Neil Johnston of the Warriors said his team was tired from an exhausting road trip.

The defeat left the Warriors seven games behind Eastern Division leader Boston, which was idle Thursday night. Syracuse, in third place, picked up a game on the Warriors and now trails Philadelphia by seven.

Syracuse picked up a game on fourth-place New York, which lost 119-115 to Cincinnati in the opener of the Convention Hall doubleheader.

In the only other game Thursday night, Bob Pettit, filling in for Coach Paul Seymour, and playing as well, sparked the Western Division leading St. Louis Hawks to a 123-113 victory over Los Angeles by scoring 40 points and grabbing 26 rebounds.
